Executive Summary

Our project addresses the challenges individual investors face in making informed equity investment decisions by developing an AI-driven trading platform that provides actionable stock recommendations. The platform uses machine learning to provide actionable stock recommendations, simplifying complex data, enhancing predictive accuracy, and democratizing access to sophisticated trading tools for retail investors.